

PATHWAYS TO A GREENER PLANET:

A FAITH-BASED PERSPECTIVE

February 26-27, 2010

Church of the Servant Episcopal
4925 Oriole Drive
Wilmington, North Carolina
910.395.0616

www.cosepiscopal.com

We are called to be stewards of the earth.

At this 1-½ day workshop, we will explore what it means to pursue environmental stewardship from a faith-based perspective.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: BETH NORCROSS

Friday, February 26, 7:00 pm

Beth Norcross speaks and teaches on the scriptural and ecological imperatives to protect the Earth. She teaches courses in eco-theology at Wesley Seminary and has done work for Earth Ministry, "a non-profit organization committed to engaging the Christian community in environmental stewardship."

Additionally, she has led workshops and retreats on nature and spirituality. Her more recent work includes development of a religious study guide for Ken Burns' film, The National Parks: America's Best Idea. Norcross continues to write, speak and work to enhance and explore environmental stewardship.

"BEING GREEN" WORKSHOPS

Saturday, February 27 (9:00 am—4:00 pm)

Beth Norcross, Adjunct Faculty in Eco-theology, Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, D.C.

Larry Cahoon, Department of Biological Oceanography, UNCW

Tammie Quick, Coordinator of the Eco-Justice Program, Fuquay-Varina United Methodist Church

Joy Brown, Coordinator of Covenant Community Garden, Fuquay-Varina United Methodist Church

Don Hickey, Cape Fear Landscaping

Martin Posey, Department Chair and Professor of Ecology, UNCW

REGISTRATION INFORMATION:

The fee for Friday evening is $15 in advance; $18 at the door. Dessert will be served.

The workshops on Saturday are free. Lunch can be purchased in advance for $8 or at the event for $10. Childcare is available on Saturday.

If you have questions, contact outreach@cosepiscopal.com

CHURCH OF THE SERVANT
EPISCOPAL